

About Certification

In February 2007, the Association for Challenge Course Technology (ACCT) approved new certification standards. In August 2007, Adventureworks! Associates, Inc. was reviewed and approved to provide this certification. While the standards have been developed by ACCT, certification continues to be granted directly by our organization.

Certification is a process that assesses an individual's skills relative to accepted industry practices. Candidates for certification must complete a minimum number of hours of training and program delivery experience, complete an experience portfolio, and pass a written and practical skills test.

The certification and training courses are offered:
